HOW WE GET THE PERSONAL INFORMATION AND WHY WE HAVE IT

All of the personal information we process is provided to us directly by you for the following reason: -

We are collecting your personal data for initial, and continuous background checking in order to supply you with a London Biggin Hill Airport security pass.

We collect and use your personal information to check the eligibility and suitability of applicants to hold an airport pass and to administer the airport pass scheme in accordance with regulatory requirements.

Under the General Data Protection Regulation UK (GDPR), the lawful basis we rely on for processing this information is: -

We have a legal obligation and the processing is necessary for us to comply with the law.

HOW WE STORE YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION AND HOW LONG WE RETAIN YOUR DATA

Your hard copy personal information is securely stored on site at London Biggin Hill Airport in locked offices and cabinets with access only to security administration. We keep your hard copy data for the duration of your security pass plus one year. We will then securely dispose of your hard copy data.

We store some of your information in our Security Pass System which is necessary for the processing and issue of your Security Pass. Our security pass data is stored on our secure UK airport server. Your data will be stored for the duration of your security pass plus one year and then deleted from our Security Pass System.

We store your photograph in our Security Pass System and on our secure on-site UK airport server. Your photograph is kept for the duration of your security pass plus one year and then deleted.

Backup data is stored within the UK on secure airport servers.

DATA SHARING & ACCESS TO YOUR DATA

Any applicant applying for an airside pass will be required to hold a valid Accreditation Check (AC) before an airside pass can be issued or renewed. The AC forms part of the UK National Security Vetting framework and will have a lifespan of 5 years. London Biggin Hill Airport will apply for your AC on your behalf and will share the data items marked with a * on page 1.

Your data will be shared with the Home Office on a regular basis in order to enable repeat checks in support of the 'enhanced background check' process as mandated under the Direction to Aerodrome Managers served by the Secretary of State for Transport under section 14(1a) of the Aviation Security Act 1982. This will happen for the period in which you hold the ID pass plus 1 year. For your information the Home Office will be an independent controller of the data for the home offices own purposes. The Home Office is a Government department headed by a Minister of the Crown and has common law powers to share data with applicable law enforcement authorities, CAA, other parts of the HO, DFT and the Cabinet Office, for the prevention of crime.

We may also be required to share your personal data with employers, our trusted third-party organisations, government agencies and law enforcement authorities. We may need to share your personal data to fulfil our purposes for processing your personal data and/or because those third parties need to process your personal data for their own purposes to safeguard national security and prevent and detect crime. Where we share your personal data with third parties, they will only use it in compliance with data protection legislation. These third parties may transfer your personal data overseas, but we will always ensure the disclosure is legitimate and proportionate for processing.

Once you have received your pass London Biggin Hill Airport will also have access to the information collected by the door access system, each time you use your pass to gain entry to different areas of the airport. Levels of access will be given depending on operational need. Should there be a concern with regards to security, crime or health and safety we may be required to check this data.

YOUR DATA SUBJECT RIGHTS

As a data subject whose personal information we hold, you have certain rights. If you wish to exercise any of these rights, please email datamanager@bigginhillairport.com or use the information supplied in the 'Contact Us', section below. To process your request, we will ask you to provide two valid forms of identification for verification purposes. Your rights for this particular processing activity are:-

Right to Access

Right to Rectification

Right to Restriction

Right not to be subject to a decision solely based on automated processing

Please see below a full list of data subject rights below but please remember that depending on the legal basis for processing they may not be absolute rights. If you require further information, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Updates to this privacy notice will be available on www.bigginhillairport.com under the heading data protection.

THE RIGHT TO BE INFORMED

As a data controller, we are obliged to provide clear and transparent information about our data processing activities. This is provided by this privacy notice and any related communications we may send you.

THE RIGHT OF ACCESS

You may request a copy of the personal data we hold about you free of charge. Once we have verified your identity and, if relevant, the authority of any third-party requestor, we will provide access to the personal data we hold about you as well as the following information:

- a) The purposes of the processing
- b) The categories of personal data concerned
- c) The recipients to whom the personal data has been disclosed
- d) The retention period or envisioned retention period for that personal data
- e) When personal data has been collected from a third party, the source of the personal data

If there are exceptional circumstances that mean we can refuse to provide the information, we will explain them. If answering requests is likely to exceed one calendar month, where we require additional time or (extended by 2 calendar months), or, in the case of repetitive requests, we reserve the right to request payment (for reasonable administrative costs) before processing the request, we will inform you.'

THE RIGHT TO RECTIFICATION

When you believe we hold inaccurate or incomplete personal information about you, you may exercise your right to correct or complete this data. This may be used with the right to restrict processing to make sure that incorrect/incomplete information is not processed until it is corrected.

THE RIGHT TO ERASURE ('THE RIGHT TO BE FORGOTTEN')

Where no overriding legal basis or legitimate reason continues to exist for processing personal data, you may request that we delete the personal data. This includes personal data that may have been unlawfully processed. We will take all reasonable steps to ensure erasure.

Due to the complex nature of Consent and legal exemption, we are not always able to fulfil deletion ("Right to be Forgotten") requests, and it is essential you understand this before accessing the service.

THE RIGHT TO RESTRICT PROCESSING

You may ask us to stop processing your personal data. We will still hold the data, but will not process it any further. This right is an alternative to the right to erasure. If one of the following conditions applies, you may exercise the right to restrict processing:

- a) The accuracy of personal data is contested.
- b) Processing of personal data is unlawful.
- c) We no longer need personal data for processing, but the personal data is required for part of a legal process.
- d) The right to object has been exercised, and processing is restricted pending a decision on the status of the processing.

THE RIGHT TO DATA PORTABILITY

You may request your set of personal data be transferred to another controller or processor, provided in a commonly used and machine-readable format. This right is only available if the original processing was on the basis of Consent, the processing is by automated means and if the processing is based on the fulfilment of a contractual obligation.

THE RIGHT TO OBJECT

You have the right to object to our processing of your data where;

- a) Processing is based on legitimate interest;
- b) Processing is for the purpose of direct marketing;
- c) Processing is for the purposes of scientific or historic research; or
- d) Processing involves automated decision-making and profiling.

DATA SECURITY

To prevent unauthorised access, maintain data accuracy and ensure the correct use of information, we have in place appropriate physical, electronic and managerial procedures to safeguard and ensure information supplied is held securely, in accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018 and the UK GDPR.
